Introduction

This publication is a statistical abstract of municipalities which may be obtained from provincial and territorial governments. The statistics cover a wide range of subjects, both economic and social, and are used by these governments and their agencies as evidence of economic trends.

This is a new updated edition of the publication "Statistical Information on Municipalities Available from Provincial and Territorial Governments".

Please replace your old copy of the publication with it.

Thank you.

This new edition of the publication is being issued in the form of a booklet. It contains the same information as the previous edition, but is more compact and easier to handle. The booklet is being issued in the form of a booklet, and is being issued in the form of a booklet. INTRODUCTION

This publication is a catalogue of statistics on municipalities which may be obtained from provincial and territorial governments. The statistics cover a wide range of subjects, both financial and non-financial, and are kept by these governments and their agencies in published or unpublished form.

At a meeting of the Intergovernmental Conference on Local Government Information Development held in Quebec City in 1978 Statistics Canada undertook to co-ordinate and standardize the information provided by each province or territory and to publish such information in catalogue form. By bringing together the data on various statistical presentations produced by provincial or territorial governments Statistics Canada hopes to provide users with a ready-reference document which will enable them to become aware of the type of municipal statistics available from these governments across Canada.

The catalogue presents a series of characteristics on each set of statistics which is intended to provide an indication of the information sources which may be contacted and a brief description of the statistics concerned. The title, contents, coverage, point of contact and related publication for each item should assist users in determining the availability of statistics on subjects in which they have an interest and should direct them to a provincial department where such statistics can be obtained.

The information contained in the publication has been provided by provincial departments of Municipal Affairs or their equivalents in cooperation with other departments or agencies.

There are 250 sets of statistics or items listed in this second issue of the catalogue. These are arranged by department and are identified with a five digit code. The first two digits represent the province from which the data may be obtained; the last three digits are a unique item-number. All references in the index are to these codes.

In assigning identification codes, spaces have been left in the numbering to permit the insertion of new or revised information as it is made available to Statistics Canada. Present plans call for a semi-annual updating of the publication through the issuance of new pages and the periodic publication of a new index.

Inquiries and requests for further information on any of the items listed in the catalogue should be directed to the contact point listed for that particular set of statistics.

General inquiries on the catalogue itself will be answered by:

Index

This index has been designed to assist users in locating items on the basis of subject matter content. Each item in the publication has been assigned a 5 digit identification number. The first two digits representing the province involved, the other three digits being a unique number given to each item.

The identification numbers have been provided in sequence within each province but since the publication will be updated on a regular schedule, gaps have been provided to permit the insertion of new or revised material.

As new items become available they will be assigned a code number, a page number consisting of an existing page number plus an additional digit identifying a new page (for example page 28-1) will be supplied to users as separate pages to be inserted into the publication. Revisions will require only the exchange of new pages for old.

Users are advised to refer to related subject matters in the index should a specific subject matter be contained therein. This secondary source may at least provide a contact point from which further information could be obtained on the availability of statistics on the subject in question.
